

PRODUCT OVERVIEW

Global experience means we deliver the products you need, exactly where you need them.

Trend's IQ systems are in some of the world's busiest and best known airports, hotels, high-rises and schools—keeping millions of visitors, residents and students comfortable and safe.

Our solutions are world leading because they're easy to spec, use and maintain. But easy doesn't mean bare bones. We based our complete line of products on our powerful, comprehensive distributed control platform. Our solutions address every facet of automated building controls. They are well suited for the largest building complexes and multi-site applications yet still cost effective in very small installations.

Trend Control Systems' dependable, comprehensive products deliver a one-two punch to your bottom line. Our solutions last and are easily extensible so you enjoy a faster, better return on your investment. Because they're so easily installed and serviced, you also save maintenance costs over the long term.

Our IQ line is designed for the most complex applications and supports any variation from a single stand-alone site to a network of up to 13,000 controllers.
